

REAL ESTATE NEWS

William Pitt hosts artist reception in Westport to benefit charity

Westport — William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty's Westport brokerage is hosting an art show featuring the work of local artists supported by the Westport Art Center under the supervision of Trace Burroughs.

Westport agent Imke Lohs organized the event. A reception will take place from 3-5 p.m. Sept. 30 at 5 Ridgewood Lane, a property listed by Westport agent Susan Vanech for $1,699,000.

Burroughs started his artistic career when he was 10 years old as an abstract impressionist, selling more than 300 works and exhibiting at dozens of galleries, including many one man shows. He will team up with 12 artists to showcase video installations for two weeks in the 4,800-square-foot home.

The artists will also donate 30 percent of their sales to the local nonprofit organization Tiny Miracles Foundation, which supports families with premature babies.

The reception will also feature light appetizers from Lisa Clarke, owner of Soiree Catering, and music from classical guitarist Glen Roth.

Rebuilt from the foundation up, this three-level home features modern industrial details that counter balance the sensibility of its layout and flow, making it perfect for gathering and entertaining. Secluded at the end of a cul-de-sac in the Old Hill section of town, the house resides on nearly two-thirds of an acre of land with custom finishes.

"The whole idea is to connect Westport," Lohs said.

"Westport is an artsy town and everybody cultivates this image by supporting the arts wherever possible. Another strong aspect of Westport is the beautiful architecture, top of the line landscaping, interior design and last but not least, the young mothers who gave up their career to start something new for the community. My goal is to connect these aspects of Westport while supporting local artists and a great cause."

Parking will be around the rotary at the entrance to Old Hill Road and in front of the Holy Trinity Cemetery, which is across the street from the rotary.

For more information on the property, located at 5 Ridgewood Lane, visit <http://bit.ly/2xu9rQL>.